

NEW COMCAST SPECTACOR BRAND DEFINES NEXT GENERATION OF LIVE EVENT EXPERIENCES FOR FANS

Spectra Teams Multiple Disciplines to Serve All Aspects of Event and Venue Management

PHILADELPHIA (June 2, 2015) – Comcast Spectacor, a leader in the sports and entertainment industry, is raising the bar on live event experiences by announcing today that its three divisions – Global Spectrum, Ovations Food Services and Paciolan – now operate as Spectra, a singular, new brand. Clients and customers look for seamless experiences whether at a trade show, concert or sporting event. By serving clients as one business, Spectra can optimize full-service operations for the good of clients, customers and fans. Spectra is committed to innovating the live experience in ways that drive revenue and growth for venue owners, teams, event presenters, advertisers and sponsors.

Beginning today, Comcast Spectacor will consist of three primary businesses: the Philadelphia Flyers, the Wells Fargo Center and the new Spectra. In turn Spectra will consist of three divisions: Venue Management (formerly Global Spectrum), Food Services & Hospitality (formerly Ovations Food Services) and Ticketing & Fan Engagement (formerly Paciolan).

With a combined 300-plus clients at more than 400 global properties that host millions of visitors each year, Spectra looks to transform the way venues present live events. Bringing its proven expertise across multiple disciplines and with resolute attention to every, single detail, Spectra will partner with its clients to create extraordinary experiences for their customers.

“Spectra is all about creating unforgettable moments for fans,” said Dave Scott, President of Comcast Spectacor. “We can do that best with all services under one umbrella to provide end-to-end solutions for venues, redefining fan experiences everywhere.”

The Spectra Advantage

Spectra’s proactive approach to modernizing the entire ecosystem of details involved in live event management has driven growth in bundled relationships with clients like the Palm Beach Convention Center, which is operated by Spectra Venue Management and supplied by Spectra Food Services & Hospitality. “The success that clients like these are experiencing with multiple services at one location is what inspired us to move from a house of brands to a branded house as Spectra. It gives clients a more integrated, streamlined and powerful resource to host extraordinary events,” Scott added.

Bundled Spectra services are also supporting locations like the PPL Center (Allentown, Pa.), Alaska Airlines Arena (Anchorage, Alaska), the Crown Complex (Fayetteville, N.C.), the Cross Insurance Arena (Portland, Maine) and Florida State University’s Tucker Center. At the Iowa Events Center in Des Moines all three Spectra divisions are already engaged. In Des Moines, this bundled approach has resulted in significant increases across the board: gross Convention Center revenues up to 64 percent over nine years; number of events up 31 percent since 2012; online ticketing revenue up 52 percent and total tickets sold up 25 percent since 2012; and food and beverage revenue up 63 percent in the arena and 18 percent in the convention center since 2012.

“Engaging all three divisions of Spectra to manage the Iowa Events Center operations has proven to be a home run for Polk County. The financial return, the synergies of common goals, and the unified customer service strategy is first class,” said Supervisor Angela Connolly, Chair of the Polk County Board of Supervisors. “As a single company, I expect that Spectra's 'one team' approach will only grow stronger, which is so important for venues like ours."
