

SportsBusiness Journal

Monday, April 3, 2017

KEEP ON TRUCKIN'

Spectra has taken the food truck experience inside Talen Energy Stadium, home of MLS's Philadelphia Union. Spectra, the team's food provider, has replaced two concession stands on the main concourse with new structures replicating food trucks.

The Cow and the Curd and Baby Blues BBQ, two vendors that previously operated outside the stadium among a small group of food trucks, are both set up in two locations: midfield on the west side and in the southeast corner.

The stands are not actual trucks. As a safety measure, local building codes prohibit those vehicles from taking up space on the concourse, said Linda Recke, Spectra's regional vice president.

The Cow and the Curd offers bratwurst, cheese curds and beer. Baby Blues BBQ's menu consists of pork and beef sandwiches, smoked wings and Memphis-style ribs. The new stands officially open April 8.

Spectra officials expect to recoup their $30,000 investment over the first year of operation, Recke said